Here's Another Week.
500 Acres of Floor.
Swiss Good Idea.
As the Pole Shifts.

strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

LAST week brokers bought and sold 3,500,000 more shares than in any previous week of stock exchange history.

The week closed with a mild selling attack. You will know tonight from this week started. Bears tell you,
"Stocks are too high," and some of them are.

The bulls say, "Stocks are not selling at their full value," and that is true of some of them.

The wise man studies values, buys what he knows he can pay for, just as he would buy land or an automobile, and leaves the gambling fireworks
and headaches to the foolish.

BOSTON, having modified an unwise restriction on building, will soon possess the biggest store and office building in the world.

Built in terraces on the "setback"
system, the great structure in Park Square will contain 20,000,000 feet of floor space. That is equivalent to fully five hundred acres of floor in one building.

It means great possibilities of increased city revenue, and, facilitating contact for business men, it means great saving of time.
Ten thousand people in one New York City building is not unusual, and every such unit means enormous savings.

FILE PROTEST AGAINST PENN AVENUE PAVING

Property Owners Say
State and County
Should Aid.

OPPOSE SPEEDWAY

Delegation Attends
Session of City Council.

Opposition to the part of property holders to the proposed improvement of Pennsylvania avenue, between Maple street and the Dry Run bridge, developed at the meeting of city council last night.

Former Councilman J. R. Chambers, principal spokesman for the contin-gent of property owners, declared that the residents would not oppose the improvement if state and county aid were given. He declared that "don't want a race track made out of it."
"Who wants this improvement?"
asked Chambers. "The property owners are not asking for it. Let those who seek it help pay for it then. We object to this improvement without aid."

Chambers also condemned council's action in adopting a resolution for this improvement without a petition from the property owners.

Submits Opposing Petition.
Councilman George A. Hughes asked Chambers if when he was a member of council he did not vote for legislation for the improvement of West Eighth street without a petition from the property owners. Chambers said that he thought he did. Chambers submitted a petition signed by residents of the street who opposed the East End job. He asked that his petition be returned him after council had an opportunity to examine it.

Walter McClelland also voiced opposition to the improvement, citing practically the same reasons as those advanced by Chambers.

Hugh Thurn, street car company worker, said he opposed the improvement until after the sanitary sewer, recently laid in East End, had been paid for. Thurn said that if the county were unable to help in this improvement that council should make inquiry to determine whether the property holders are "able" to pay.

Service Director Moore declared that he had never heard of the state aiding with a street improvement within a municipality. City Solicitor Hoover said that the county commissioners had flatly refused to extend aid in the Pennsylvania avenue improvement when it was referred to them last year.

Second Baptist church, Pennsylvania

The Lee family, who were visiting
Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Mills, First avenue,
East End, were on their way down town while Keaton was headed east.

Both machines, damaged, were taken

Mellon Recommends Decrease From His Proposal Submitted to Congress Last Fall.

FLOOD RELIEF MAY MEAN CUT

Increased Expenditures
and Not Revenue Losses Responsible for Change of Position.

By Robert S. Thornburgh.
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today recommended a maximum tax reduction of $200,000,000 to congress, a decrease of $25,000,000 from his proposal last October.

Appearing before the senate finance committee today Mellon declared that his "top" cut is based upon appropriations already made. Should congress appropriate $30,000,000 for flood relief Mellon said the maximum reduction would be reduced to $181,115,000.
Increased expenditures and not revenue losses were responsible for Mel-lon's change of position from last October, he said.

On the basis of a $181,000,000 cut
Mellon recommended:

(1) Reduction of the corporation tax from 13 1/2 to 12 per cent and rate applicable to insurance companies from 12 1/2 to 12 per cent, entailing a revenue loss of $123,000,000.

(2) Revision of rates applicable to incomes from $14,000 to $75,000, resulting in revenue decrease of $50, 000,000.

(3) Repeal of federal estate tax with loss of $7,000,000 in 1919.

(4) Exemption of income from American bankers acceptances, held by foreign corporations. The loss of revenue would be negligible.

Other Proposals Approved.

For the $200,000,000 reduction program Mellon, in addition to these items, approved provisions of the house revenue bill as follows:

(1) Increase in exemption from $2,000 to $3,000 for corporations with incomes not over $25,000, with revenue loss of $12,000,000.

(2) Increase in admissions tax exemption from 75 cents to one dollar, with loss of $8,000,000.

(3) Repeal of cereal beverage tax with $185,000 loss.

(4) Reduction of tax on wines with $930,000 revenue loss.

Mellon opposed repeal of the automobile tax. He said the demand for this repeal comes not from automobile purchasers but from manufacturers and dealers who "have organized intensive propaganda and of necessity
do not look at tax problem as a whole,
but concentrate on one tax which,
they believe affects their own interests."

3,000 HOMELESS AFTER QUAKE

Between 50 and 60 Reported Dead in Smyrna Zone.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 3.—More than 3,000 persons are homeless as a result of the series of earthquakes in the Smyrna district which have destroyed or damaged half a dozen villages, said a report from the city of Smyrna today.

Smyrna and Torbali bore the brunt of the tremors.
Soldiers are clearing away the debris and are tearing down buildings that were damaged so badly as to endanger persons venturing near them.

An incomplete check up now puts the dead at from 50 to 60 and the injured at approximately 150.

Who reported the incident to the sheriff.

When an investigation was made, the charred remains of Mather were found in the rear seat of the car. An empty gallon can was also found in the car. The identification was made by Lester Finetrock, Mather's partner.

Investigators so far have been unable to determine the cause of the fire or of Mather's death. The burning auto was first seen Sunday night, along the road near

OIL TRIAL READY TO REOPEN AT WASHINGTON

With the national Capitol as a background, the Teapot Dome conspiracy trial will get under way when Sena-justice such as occurred in the trial of Harry F. Sinclair (upper left).

LOWDEN TO GET WILLIS FORCES' ENDORSEMENT

Ohioans Will Act at Columbus Meet
Tonight.

DAWES SECOND

Resolution to Draft
Coolidge May be Offered.

COLUMBUS, O., April 3.—That former Governor Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, will be endorsed by Willis candidates for delegates and alternates from Ohio to the Republican national convention as their "first choice" for the G. O. P. presidential nomination was the consensus of opinion expressed here today by Willis candidates.

These candidates voiced belief that the Willis candidates, at a meeting here tonight, will adopt a resolution designating Lowden as their first choice.

It was the opinion of these candidates that the resolution will include an endorsement of Vice President Charles E. Dawes, a "native son" of Ohio, as second choice.

A few Willis candidates, it was learned, were contemplating offering a proposed resolution endorsing President Calvin Coolidge as "first choice" for the presidential nomination. Some others were credited with favoring adoption of a resolution announcing that the Ohio candidates who had designed the late U. S. Senator Frank B. Willis as their "first choice" were favorable to going to the national convention as an unattached delegation.

GERMAN FLIERS DELAY HOP-OFF

Junkers Monoplane Still in Hangar at Dublin.

DUBLIN, April 3.—When the Junkers monoplane Bremen will take off on its projected flight to America was still a matter of conjecture today.

Weather reports continued unfavorable although local conditions improved sufficiently for the plane to make a trial flight over this city yesterday with the new relief-pilot, Commandant James Fitzmaurice, head of the Free State air forces, at the controls.

Meanwhile, reports from Paris indicated that Maurice Drouhin, the French pilot, is not contemplating an immediate flight across the Atlantic,
as was rumored yesterday.

FLOWERS BANK BIER OF WILLIS

DELAWARE, O., April 3.—
Among the hundreds of floral offerings banked about the bier of the late Senator Frank B. Willis here today were a huge cross of red carnations, state flowers of Ohio, sent with the condolence of Vice-President and Mrs. Charles Gates Dawes.

A great blanket of dark red roses brought the condolence of the members of the lower house, while a standing wreath of roses and lilies of the valley, bore the card of the United States senate.
A bouquet of pansies, Senator Willis' favorite flowers, offered the sympathy of the Woman's Glee club of Delaware.

Gray chapel stage was overfilled
with wreaths and floral offerings, bearing cards from political leaders from all sections of the United States.

HOOVER, SMITH WIN MICHIGAN

Names of Mellon, Dawes
Lowden, Walsh
Written in.

DETROIT, April 3.—Herbert Hoover, on the Republican ballot, and Gov.
Alfred E. Smith, on the Democratic, won hands down in the presidential primary in Michigan yesterday.

All through the state the names of Mellon, Dawes, Lowden, Couzens, Reed, Ritchie and Walsh were written on the ballots, but the total vote for all of them put together was negligible.

Democrats caused minor surprise
by the showing they made. In Detroit, at the last party primary in 1926,
there were only 5,000 Democratic votes to 140,000 Republican. Yesterday, out of about 30,000 votes Democrats polled about 9,000.

MILLIONAIRE AND FAMILY HELD PRISONERS AS BANDITS LOOT HOME

child and their servants were held prisoners for three hours early to-

FALL'S STORY OF LOAN FIB FACES ATTACK

Says Hays, Lenroot and Smoot Advised
Falsehood.

SENATORS DENY

Deposition to be Used in Sinclair Trial
Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Albert B.
Fall's story of how he came to tell the famous falsehood about getting a loan of $100,000 from E. B. McLean, Washington publisher, when, in fact,
he got it from E. L. Doherty after hearing the oil magnate the Elk Hills Naval Reserve, appeared to be in for rough sledding today.

In the deposition which Fall has been making in El Paso for use in the Sinclair trial, which opens here tomorrow, he is understood to have said that Will H. Hays, and Senators Len-root (R.) of Wisconsin, and Smoot (R.) of Utah, advised him to conceal the real source of the loan.

Lenroot and Smoot issued prompt denials that they had ever told the ex-cabinet officer to conceal the Doherty transaction.

Hays is now in Paris. He will be questioned again by the senate oil committee as soon as he returns.

"Senator Lenroot and myself talked to Fall at length," said Smoot. "We urged him to tell the committee the whole story. Hays was not present at our conference."

HEDDLESTON AT WILLIS FUNERAL

Russell C. Heddleston, West Fifth street, left early this morning for Delaware when he attended the funeral services for the late United States Senator Frank B. Willis, this afternoon.

Heddleston was a personal friend of the senator who stopped at the Heddleston home on his last visit to East Liverpool last fall when he addressed members of the Kiwanis club and their guests.

The loot consisted of diamond rings and other articles of jewelry, silverware, fur coats and a small amount of cash.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., April 3.—Two firemen were killed and the extent of $100,000 in an early morning fire here today. The of the Brookside volunteer fire

Find Body in Ruins.

Lilly, a senior in the Bridgeport
high school was killed at 5 a. m.,
when a wall of a building collapsed.

The body of Trouten was found in the smoldering ruins shortly before noon, after a checkup by Police Chief Cook revealed he was missing. Trout-en was last seen about 4 a. m., entering the burning building with a fire hose.

Four other firemen working with Lilly escaped.

The fire started at 3 a. m. in the building of the Western meat market and spread to two adjacent buildings.
The courtyards across the street twice caught fire and the sheriff's residence from flying embers.

Investigators reported that the fire started from a short circuit in a re-

SOMME BATTLE SERMON GIVEN AT M. E. CHURCH

Dr. Robertson Repeats Discourse Delivered to Soldiers.

THRILLS HEARERS
"Man That Marched Until He Flew"
is Subject.

Utilizing a sermon that he preached to the Gordon Highlanders and the Highland Light Infantry of Glasgow just before they entered the battle of the Somme in the World war, Dr. John Robertson, Scotch evangelist, thrilled with spiritual truths an audience that all but filled the auditorium of the First Methodist Episcopal church at the allied pre-Easter revival last evening. His subject was "The Man That Marched Until He Flew."

His text was Moses' observation in Genesis: "And Enoch Walked (Marched) With God."

Six Pastors on Platform.

Bulwarking him by their presence on the platform beside him were six of the city's pastors: Dr. Warren O. Hawkins, who presided; Rev. John F. Dimit of the First Methodist Protestant church, Rev. L. J. Davison of the First U. P. church, Rev. A. H. O'Brien of the First Baptist church; Rev. W. E. Smith of the Free Methodist church, and Rev. W. H. Baker of the First Christian church. The latter, who began his East Liverpool pastorate last Sunday, was introduced by Dr. Hawkins to the audience. He was enthusiastically greeted as he rose and bowed.

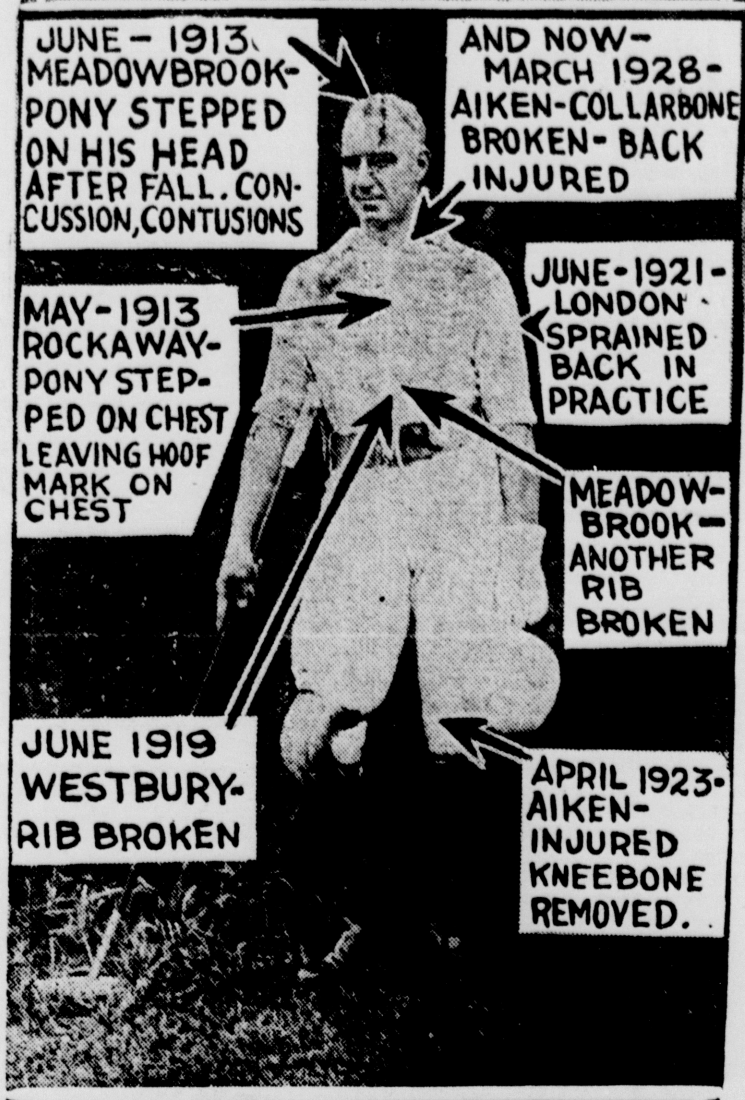

In attendance also, but sitting in the choir loft, was Envoy Waggoner of the Salvation Army, who recently has been attracting attention by stories that have been written by him for the Salvation Army magazine, "The War Cry."

The invocation was made by Rev. Smith and the benediction given by Rev. Baker.

Numerous "songs of Zion" were sung by the congregation, directed by Prof. Hugh F. Laughlin, with Mrs. T. C. Flick as organist.

"I have been deeply impressed by the spirit of co-operation shown in this series of meetings," Dr. Hawkins declared at the outset of the meeting. "In the kingdom of God all are one. The unity thus shown stands out in its pleasantness and goodness."

Dr. Robertson revealed himself as a walker despite his years when he disclosed the fact that he rounded the heights of the Northside for an hour and a half before breakfast yesterday morning—a daily custom for him that has kept him physically fit.

Realistically he narrated an incident in his own life when, as a teacher, in the University of Minnesota some years ago he walked 100 miles with Edward Payson Weston as the latter in a $20,000 trek from New York city to San Francisco stopped at his college to lay a corner stone.

With unique application he likened the journey to Enoch's walking with God which, in turn, he indicated Christians must likewise do with Jesus, the Christ.

"Weston, champion walker of the world though he was, had to start right," he observed. "And so he met Dr. Finley, present editor of the New York Times, who officially saw him off by shaking his hand at Times Square."

"After he had walked 1,000 miles I had to start right by meeting Weston at Menominee, Wis. So any that is a Christian must find Jesus to start walking with Him."

ANOTHER LARGE CROWD AT HOLY WEEK SERVICES

Dr. John Robertson
Speaks at Noon
Meeting.

SPECIAL MUSIC

"Signs of Coming Judgment" Britons
Topic.

With marked increasing interest in the departure, another large crowd heard Dr. John Robertson, fourth week pre-Easter speaker, at the First Presbyterian church at noon today. His theme was "The Signs of Coming Judgment."

Dr. J. H. Lawther, the pastor, presided at the service.

The singing was directed by J. O. Hedderston, member of the church choir.

In characteristic fashion, Dr. Robertson spoke of the wars and rumors of wars, the distress attending the populace of Jerusalem and its later destruction by the Romans, the passing of the Chosen People and the weeping of Christ at Signs of the Coming Judgment.

"On every roadway are signs to indicate the way," he said. "Others seek to keep travelers from places of danger. Without them no journey could be completed. Any man would be destroyed."

"The highway to God is full of signs. His Commandments and Christ's injunctions keep celestial tourists from detours and pitfalls. They enable their objectives to be reached."

"But signs, not obeyed, will result in sometimes irreparable damage and ultimate loss."

"Because they are not followed the Christ yet weeps. He does not relish the passing of them whom He would call His own."

"Passion Week should go far in refreshing our vision and knowledge of these signs and keep us truly on our way to the Heavenly Father."

The fact was disclosed that Dr.

Robertson has two sons in the ministry, one an Episcopalian and the other a Presbyterian like himself.

In addition to editing a religious journal he has had newspaper experience with the Westminster Gazette and other English papers.

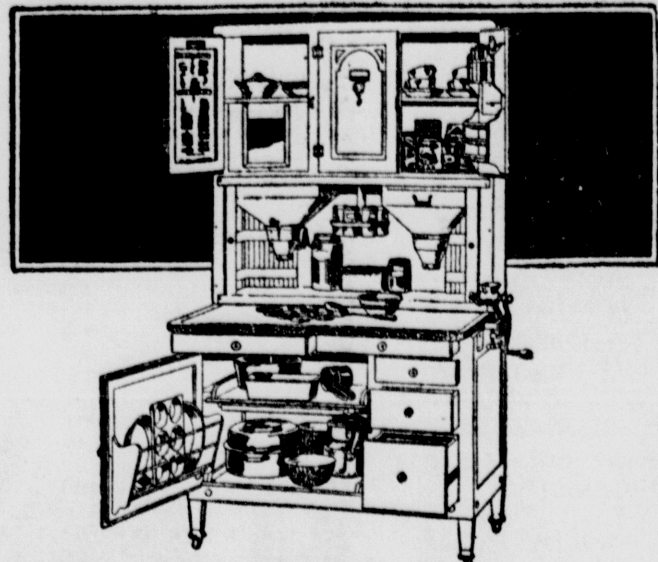

The further fact was revealed that the late Dr. L. L. Moody brought him first to America; that he was allied with the famed Dr. T. De Witt Talmage, Brooklyn divine, and Dr. W. H. Bur Chapman.

Holy Week Observance

Marking the close of the 40-day penitential season and the immediate period of Christ's passion, Holy Week is being observed throughout the Christian world.

East Liverpool people, irrespective of religious faith, will not permit Lent to pass without some degree of mortification and sacrifice to prepare worthily for Easter, the day of Resurrection.

Eleven congregations, with special services in seven churches, will meditate on the Passion this week. Five downtown congregations—First Presbyterian, First United Presbyterian, First Methodist Episcopal, First Methodist Protestant and First Baptist—are co-operating in union services in noonday meetings in the Presbyterian edifice and evening devotions in the Methodist Episcopal house of worship; another pre-Easter campaign, with the Second Presbyterian, Second United Presbyterian and Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist churches participating, is being held in East End. And the Emmanuel Presbyterian congregation, Park boulevard; St. Stephen's Episcopal, St. John's Lutheran and St. Aloysius' and St. Ann's Catholic churches are also conducting special services.

The significance of Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Holy Saturday, recalling the Last Supper, Crucifixion and the vigil of Easter, will be stressed.

It should be a week of record church attendance.

Coolidge's Pronouncement

It is somewhat illuminating to scan the newspaper editorial reaction to President Coolidge's latest pronouncement concerning another term—his declaration that he will not be drafted. Add this to his "do not choose" and his "my wish will be respected," and one has a fairly definite idea of what Mr. Coolidge means.

But some of the editorial writers around the country don't seem to get it. Take the Columbus Dispatch, for instance. It remarks "how he would solve such a problem (should the convention 'draft' him) cannot be safely predicted, because the conditions of the problem itself cannot be fully known until it takes final form—if it ever does—in the convention itself."

But while The Dispatch is not entirely definite, The Providence (R. I.) Journal is. Says The Journal: "This is less than an absolute renunciation," (meaning the desire by Mr. Coolidge that draft talk be ended). "It does not go as far as General Sherman went when he proclaimed that he would not accept if nominated or serve if elected."

"Suppose Mr. Coolidge were drafted at Kansas City next June. What would he do?"

The Philadelphia Enquirer seems of the opinion that Mr. Coolidge is absolutely out of any consideration whatever as a possible presidential nominee by the Republicans. It points out:

"Where, then, is the remote chance for drafting him? His name cannot be placed in nomination at the convention. Were someone to do so, this action would unquestionably be met by a telegram demanding withdrawal. In the event the summons would be based on the argument of duty, what then? Perhaps he would yield, but we doubt it."

Mr. Coolidge has been more of an enigma to the editorial writers of the country since his "do not choose" pronouncement last summer, than any other man in public office at any time. The fact that Mr. Coolidge has let his various statements stand as uttered, has added to their intriguing qualities. To many editors the statements are open to many constructions; to others they are emphatic renunciation of public life.

But the talk of forcing Mr. Coolidge into the presidential race, and into office again, persists. The argument is raised that he might of necessity have to be the choice in event of a deadlock in the Republican convention is more or less hot air. With only a majority needed for nomination, and with so many delegations present either unpledged or pledged only to favorite sons for a complimentary vote, the deadlock bugaboo dies a-borning.

However, there very likely will be some attempt made at Kansas City to place Mr. Coolidge's name in nomination. Should this be done, and the convention get out of hand, it wouldn't be surprising if a stampede resulted and the president were nominated again. This would be a serious mistake on the part of the convention, it would seem, inasmuch as Mr. Coolidge quite apparently has definitely and repeatedly removed himself from any consideration whatever.

A Monster Flying Boat

From Switzerland comes word of the building of a flying boat compared with which all existing heavier-than-air machines are mere pigmies. The details of construction are being kept secret by the German company building it at a plant on the Swiss side of Lake Constance, but it is known that it is an all-metal boat of such strength that, even should it be forced to descend, it would be able to withstand heavy seas until aid summoned by wireless could have time to respond and rescue its crew of nine and a capacity passenger list of fifty.

The boat, which will weigh almost fifty tons when equipped and loaded, will be driven by twelve powerful motors aggregating 6,000 horsepower, but it is thought that not more than six or eight of them will be used in ordinary weather, save in case of emergency, the plan being to alternate the use of the motors.

The hope of the German air people is said to be to get a line of machines into operation before any competitor is able to enter the field and thus secure to herself the advantage of priority in the world's air traffic over the oceans, plans having been formulated for the construction of even larger and more powerful machines.

It would be interesting, meanwhile, to know what the United States is doing relative to the construction of machines to attain and hold a place in the air traffic of the world.

The Prince of Wales, who has taken more falls than the average equestrian, evidently believes in the wartime slogan, "A man may be down but he is never out."

Paint up and clean up.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 3.—This year will witness a celebration which should be of unusual interest to the whole Occidental world, the two thousandth anniversary of the city of greatest romance in all western Europe—Carcassonne. The modern world knows older things. The Earl of Carnarvon and Howard Carter dug up the three-thousand-year-old relics of the Egyptian ruled Tutankhamen and both Rome and Greece can show more ancient works. The point of chief interest about Carcassonne is that today it stands in an almost untouched state. While the sands of the desert were entombing the Egyptian kings more lastingly than man ever attempted and while the great monuments of Athens and of Rome were crumbling to ruins, Carcassonne was out-facing the years.

Carcassonne is a town in the south of France and it was a town in the south of France two thousand years ago. When Caesar came up from the south to conquer Gaul he found a thriving city at Carcassonne and today it is a thriving city.

What makes it of special interest to the western world is that it has remained through centuries untouched, unaltered, and unique. There is no other Carcassonne, no other city anywhere near approaching it.

The city of Carcassonne is one great fortress. It is, to begin with, the sort of walled city that illustrates of fairy tales. Imagine, if they have not seen it. Vast battlemented walls rise from the plain, punctuated by towers at various unexpected angles. Within the outer wall is an inner wall as a secondary defense against invaders. Fifty-three towers in all gave opportunity for archers and spear throwers to enfilade invaders.

Long ago Carcassonne impressed people by its antiquity and became a sort of symbol of endurance. The march of progress seems to have gone completely around it, leaving it untouched, pristine, a sign-manual of past glories. Modern guns could batter down its walls in a few hours, in all probability, but they never have touched it. Carcassonne has borne a charmed life.

Carcassonne has been especially a symbol to artists and philosophers who have been impressed by the manner in which it has endured in a world of transient life, fame, and fortune.

The first fortifications were built by the Romans who found the city to have been inadequately fortified by the Volcae Tectoe who defended it against Caesar. Later it was captured by the Visigoths who strengthened the fortifications and successfully held the city against the Franks. In 762 it fell to the Saracens and was afterwards taken from them by Charles Martel who saved Europe from Mohammedanism by his great victory at Tours. From that time on Carcassonne had its own counts, each of whom added somewhat to the walls and towers.

Then, in the eighth century, all work stopped and none has been done since. Carcassonne stands today a living example and record of ancient fortification from the time of Jesus to the Dark Ages.

This great monument had a narrow escape in 1835 when a movement was set on foot to modernize the town. Prosper Merimee, the famous French novelist, set up such an agitation that the government intervened. The whole city now is in the hands of the French government and may be said to constitute a museum in its entirety.

Q. Q. How many Americans are there in Nicaragua besides the Marines? R. A.

A. The exact number is not known. Probably there are about 600 Americans in Nicaragua besides the Marines.

Q. Is the paper that our money is made of a linen or cotton product? L. W. W.

A. It is a tough fabric, 75 per cent cotton.

Q. In what business was the father of Mary Todd Lincoln engaged? I. L.

A. Her father was a bank president, state senator, owner of a mill, and part owner of a woolen factory.

Q. Why did a certain kind of cook stove get the name of range? L. C. S.

A. Range is a word applied by the Pennsylvania Dutch to the six-plate stove, implying a larger range of space permitted by this particular type of stove than was possible with the four-plate stove which was previously used.

Q. Can an unlimited amount of gold be sent to a mint by an individual with a request that it be coined into money? H. A. S.

A. Free and unlimited coinage of gold exists in the United States. Standard gold bullion may be deposited at the mints and at the assay offices in any amount, to be coined for the benefit of the depositor, without charge for coinage, but when other than standard bullion is received for coinage a charge is made for parting or for refining, or for alloy, as the case may be. Refusal of gold bullion of less value than $100 or when it is too base for coinage, may be lawfully made at the mints.

Q. Has Edison's deafness been in any way an advantage to him? E. D. W.

A. One of his biographers says: "Although this deafness would be regarded as a great affliction by most people, and has brought in its train other serious troubles, Mr. Edison has always regarded it philosophically, and said upon one occasion 'This deafness has been of great advantage to me in many ways. When in a telegraph office, I would only hear the instrument directly on the table at which I sat, and unlike the other operators, I was not bothered by the other instruments. Again, in experiment on the telephone, I had to improve the transmitter so I could hear. This made the telephone commercial, as the magneto telephone receiver of Bell was too weak to be used as a transmitter commercially. It was the same with the phonograph. The great defect of that instrument was the rendering of the overtones in music and the hissing consonants in speech. I worked over a year, twenty hours a day, Sundays and all, to get the word specie perfectly recorded and reproduced on the phonograph. When this was done I knew that everything else could be done—which was a fact. Again, my nerves have been preserved intact. Broadway is as quiet to me as a country village is to a person with normal hearing.'"

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

Fair Weather is No Excuse! Are you a rainy weather church attendant?

When the day is fair and you can indulge yourself in outdoor sports you don't go to church.

But how can you satisfy your conscience, which must at times remind you that you are not playing straight.

It is easy to excuse yourself from church services saying that you can worship outdoors as well as you can in church.

But even if you were in a benign frame of mind it is not at all the same religious impression you get from the out-of-door route.

There is not the influence, the environment needed to make your thoughts take religious form.

Perhaps it is your boast that "your religion is in your wife's name."

You excuse yourself with the argument that you pay well—you subscribe liberally to all good works.

That is fine so far as it goes, but your example is against church going and your children and your friends are well aware of it.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, April 3.—It would seem that only in volumes of Horatio Alger, Jr., is the romance of the ferries preserved. The ferryboat is about the only thing around New York that never changes—a solitary link between now and days ago.

All day and far into the night they nose in and out of their slips, sturdy, plodding and reliable. There is seldom a ferry accident. Once in awhile one gets lost in the fog and moves with a semi-tragic humor out toward the sea, but gallant lugs always come to her rescue.

Their skippers are wind-blown mariners who know every inch of the harbor and spend their lives in the shadow of the monstrous known by poets as New York's beautiful skyline. They are not at all envious of masters of big trans-Atlantic vessels about them.

The ferry has plenty of excitement. Now and then a forlorn soul slips over the side to be dragged out and saved by the palmeter. A fleeing criminal is tapped on the shoulder. Young lovers whisper the old story. Babies have been born on the crude benches.

And the faded two men orchestra of a harp and violin try rather pathetically to brighten the trip grinding out "In the Good Old Summer Time" and "Sweet Rosie O'Grady." And are perfectly content with the few vagrant pennies pitched into their caps.

The industrious little shoe shiners are attacking every pair of feet—five cents for a rub off and a dime for a shine. The prices are three and five cents. Several voices that have cried "Shine, Sir!" have been heard in legislative halls.

The experienced ferry crosser is a constant deck walker—round and round he goes in the clean, tangy air getting glimpses of the sea, Miss Liberty, the cowering Jersey hills, Ellis Island, the metropolis and the endless variety of river craft.

Times Square is to have a new 1,000 room hotel that will cater as much to New Yorkers as transients. It is the notion of the proprietor the throbbing heart of the city is just as attractive to natives as to visitors, if they can have home-like comforts. He proposes to see they have them. For some time there has been a trend from the suburbs back to the city and the experiment is watched with interest. Suburban wives especially are rebelling at what they call the monotony of their isolation and husbands are losing enthusiasm for commuting. Six other new hotels are going up in the Times Square section.

Stage jokes are often born of grim reality. In a musical comedy a safe-blower is asked how he came to be one and replied: "I started stealing milk bottles and just worked my way up." That was the actual statement of a safe-blower in a New York court several years ago.

The oldest drug store in New York still carries on at No. 6 Bowery. It is a little dingy, but many of its customers cling. On its shelves are fit curves, blood purifiers, skin removers, and other remedial agents sponsored by its founder—a doctor who was a duke of his period. On a glass counter is a jar of leeches with a faint stirring of life. I had supposed there were no more leeches left in New York, save, of course, those along Broadway.

Most of the Bowery black eyes, and they are plentiful enough, are today fixed up by barbers who employ what they call a "cupping." This is said to do the trick within a few hours.

Nobody can explain a black eye satisfactory. The only one I ever had was achieved at a reception in a private home. I tried to descend the grand staircase somewhat in the manner of Jesse Red in the Follies, but came down like Leon Errol. But not a soul who did not see the accident would believe me.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

We think of disease as being caused by a germ or some other invisible or microscopic agent. As a matter of fact, worms, some of them of considerable size, may find their way into the human body.

They are as much out of place here as a rattlesnake would be in a dwelling house. But snakes sometimes do get into primitive homes.

There are many varieties of animal parasites that find their way into man's intestinal tract. The most common of these is the ordinary tapeworm, growing to the length of twenty or thirty feet.

Then there are intestinal worms, known as thread worms or round worms. A most unpleasant visitor is the trichina, a worm that finds its way right into the muscle tissue.

Today I wish to speak particularly of a parasite which is active in tropical or semi-tropical countries. This form of animal life is not satisfied to enter the intestinal canal of its victim. It actually penetrates the blood vessel wall and circulates in the blood itself.

I refer to a worm called filaria sanguinis hominis. This name indicates the nature of the animal—the thread worm of the blood of man.

There are several forms. One is the filari bancrofti. This is a long thin organism, white in color, looking not unlike a horse hair. It may be from an inch to three inches long.

This type is likely to get into the lymphatic glands. From the lymph it gets in to the blood.

Now a strange thing happens. There is one form that is found in the blood at night only. Another and different form is found in the blood in daytime. Then there is a third form, a day and night worker.

The thing that caused me to write this article is a letter I just received from Porto Rico. A gentleman wrote me regarding his wife.

She picked up this parasite in the Virgin Islands where she lived four years. The poor woman has been more acutely during the past year.

The letter states that one leg is particularly affected. It is considerably swollen, red and painful.

Another symptom quite commonly observed is filariasis, as the disease is called, is milkiness of the urine. Instead of being white, it may be blood streaked.

There is still another form of this parasite, known as "guinea-worm." Some writers think the plague of fiery serpents sent to afflict the children of Israel was an attack of these worms.

I assume this is the form of parasite which has attacked my Porto Rico friend. The worm has found its way into the leg.

It is not unusual for it to get into the eyelid, the tongue, the arm, or the body itself. Painful swellings follow the invasion.

These parasites get into the system through the drinking water usually. This is another reason for making sure the water we drink is uncontaminated, boiled if there is any doubt.

I wish I could recommend some sure cure for the ailment. Unfortunately I cannot. Hot and cold water applications in alternation are as useful as any local treatment can be.

Let the cold water run on the affected part for ten minutes by the watch. Then apply dry heat. Do this twice a day.

Build up the general health by simple food, fresh air and sunlight. In time there will be resistance enough to fight off the enemy.

Sometimes pus forms and when the swelling comes to a head the worm is expelled. Or it may be removed by surgical means.

Are You One of Those Women?

By Edna Wallace Hopper.

Certain women are sufficiently interesting in appearance to cause people to look twice. The secret is an outstanding smartness.

Always such a person appears perfectly groomed but the methods of acquiring this stamp are quiet and unobtrusive.

Here is one of the important ways: Use a powder that blends with your skin so smoothly that it looks like a part of you. I have found this powder in France. Formerly it was made for my personal use only. Now you can buy it at your own toilet counter. The price is $1. It comes in a square box. Ask for Edna Wallace Hopper's Heavy Face Powder.

For certain skins which do not require as clinging a type I have what I call my Light Face Powder, which comes in a round box at a lower price. Both types in Flesh, Brunette, White.

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

Values Are Guaranteed At Blue Front Grocery

Complete Line of All the Best Known Brands of Merchandise Sells at Cash and Carry Prices.

Seeking to favor its trade with value-giving prices achieved through legitimate means and by economies which result from judicious buying, together with the elimination, insofar as possible, of unnecessary overhead and the husbanding of available resources, the "Matamoras Farmer" Blue Front grocery, in Dresden avenue, promises genuine savings in the goods that it sells.

Operating on a cash and carry policy that, the firm explains means the abolishing of expenses that accompany other methods of retail trade, the Blue Front Grocery naturally profits itself to a greater extent and, because of a system of fair dealing that marks its relations with its customers, a portion of these profits are passed on to the buyer in the form of satisfactory prices.

And Mrs. Wilda Neal, the proprietress, explains too that no effort is made to foist off inferior groceries that cost less and consequently can sell less, but that the cash and carry values are applicable to the better known and standardized articles of food merchandise.

And herein lies the value of this selfsame policy that the Blue Front Grocery adopted shortly after the business was launched under Mrs. Neal's direction several years ago.

Buying at her establishment, the customer completes his purchases and owes nothing, a practice favored (but hard to obtain) by all business men who indubitably agree with the essayist Emerson who says:

"Experienced men of the world know very well that it is best to pay scott and lot as they go along—"

The services that the Blue Front sponsors daily to its hundreds of customers appears even greater in fact than in description because groceries and household requisites that are known to the housewives who buy are sold here on the cash and carry plan.

Flours that bear the brands that are recognized as worthy grades; a complete line of coffees of an excellent order; all the wanted grades of canned goods—corn, peas, tomatoes, beans, fruits—everything, in fact; flavorings, condiments, cereals—the list could be carried on indefinitely.

All these are available across the counters of the Blue Front Grocery under the cash and carry system.

The Blue Front announces an attractive list of special prices for the coming Saturday, prices that should move the merchandise to which they are attached with little difficulty. And, too, souvenirs are being given this week to each adult purchaser, as a mark of appreciation to established patronage and as an incentive to introduce the store's values to new.

The Blue Front Grocery is easily accessible to every one. Located almost directly across the street from the Armour company in Dresden avenue, it is but a couple of minutes' walk from the Diamond and its doors are open from early morning until, usually, 10 o'clock or so at night.

Consequently, it will not be difficult for the shopper—morning, afternoon or evening—to visit the Blue Front. Greenstuffs will be coming in soon and in this line, as in others, the Blue Front attempts to render service that is satisfactory in every respect.

COPELAND SAYS AIR IN SENATE IS UNHEALTHY

Blames Chamber for Tragic Death of F. B. Willis.

ACTION IS URGED

Cites Fact That 36
Senators Have Died
in Office.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The United States senate, which attempts to look after the welfare of 120,000,000 people, is sending its own members to their deaths because it won't provide decent working conditions for them, Senator Copeland (D.) of New York, noted health specialist, declared today.

Copeland attributes the tragic death of Senator Frank B. Willis partly to the foul air of the present chamber. The deaths of Senator Jones (D.) of New Mexico and Ferris (D.) of Michigan, this session, were also in some measure due to the close confinement of the chambers, he said.

The New Yorker is the author of a bill to remodel the chamber, moving it to the north wall of the capitol and cutting three 20-foot windows stretching from the floor to the ceiling. The work would cost approximately half a million dollars, according to estimates.

"Let us do this work before we have more deaths," Copeland said. "In the last 12 years 36 senators have died in office. I have no doubt that working in this chamber lowered the resistance of every one of these. Senator Willis worked hard here for two months. I cannot believe he was unaffected by the confinement and lack of clean air."

"We could make of this chamber a beautiful, healthy place. We could start the work at the close of the short session next year, and have the remodeling completed when the senate reconvened."

File Protest

of Council Charles Hayes, and Byron Surgeon spoke against the improvement of the street between the Dry run bridge and Price street, which they asserted to be in first class condition.

"It would be a crime to tear up this pavement and relay another of the same type," said Surgeon.

The proposed improvement of Palissey street was also discussed. Nick Eck presented a petition which he said contained the names of property holders owning 57 percent of the frontage, opposing the grading and paving the street. J. A. Copler said that a majority of the property holders between Pennsylvania avenue and Etnuria street had petitioned for this improvement and that they were willing to pay for it. E. C. Dray joined Eck in his opposition to the job saying that "many widows on the street would be unable to meet the assessments. Joseph Boyd, Boyd Culp and two others said they favored the improvement."

Plan Fourth Street Work.
By a vote of 4 to 3, Councilmen Hughes, Poole and Lindley dissenting, council directed an ordinance committee to bring in legislation for the improvement of Fourth street. Councilman Altman said that the property owners wanted a "new job" and also favored widening the street west of Market. Hughes said that the property holders would join the city if anything but a resurfacing job were authorized. Councilmen Ferguson, Fleming, Altman and Green supported the motion.

Two "determining" ordinances, one for the improvement of Dresden avenue, between West Ninth street and the corporate limits, and the other for the paving of Sutton alley from Lincoln avenue to Peake street, were passed on three readings under suspension of the rules.

Councilman Harry Altman of the street committee said that an investigation of the claim of $130 made by Mrs. George Watkins for injuries received when she fell down a flight of steps in West Eighth street, had been made. His committee recommended that the claim be rejected.

The committee also reported unfavorably on the claim of Miss Hannah Kirkham for damages alleged to have been done to her home by street improvement in Dresden avenue.

Dr. Howard H. Boone, Youngstown, formerly of East Liverpool, advised council that he would take steps to remove a garage occupying an alley near Vine street.

Urges City Clean-up.
Councilman T. P. Ferguson said that many of the streets and alleys of the city were in need of a general cleaning and submitted a motion that the service-safety director be requested to increase his street force and make a general clean-up within the next couple of weeks. He declared that this campaign would provide jobs for many who are without employment for a short time.

Service Safety Director Moore who attended council declared that the council should provide a dumping ground for the city. Councilman Ferguson stated that a dump might be made available by extending Moore street across Carpenter's run but no action was taken on his suggestion.

Solicitor Hoover, replying to an inquiry from Councilman Lindley as to whether he had been advised by President J. H. Maxwell of the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company that the street car tracks in Union street would be lifted at an early date. He said that the Washington street tracks had been removed but that work on vacating Union street had been delayed pending negotiations with the Rock Springs Park management with the Pennsylvania railroad for excursion trains this summer.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 3.—With the exception of a few "pool specialists," the stock market encountered additional selling pressure at the beginning of trade today, and prices moved irregularly, the action of the stock exchange governors, in ordering the big board closed Friday and Saturday, stimulated short covering and liquidation of stocks by the professionals who wished to be "out of the market" over the three day holiday.

Radio rushed up 7 points to 194 in the first period as short covering orders poured into the market in large volume. Houston Oil continued its spectacular advance and sold at 164, up 12 points from yesterday's noon. Excellent buying demand appeared a point or two below Monday's close, for United States Steel, General Motors, Chrysler Motor, Hudson, Dupont and other high grade stocks.

Money market conditions were unchanged, the initial call renewal rate being posted at 5 per cent. Withdrawal of funds from interior points was still in progress, but a return flow of corporation money to the banks is expected before the end of the week.

SEEK AUTOIST IN GIRL'S MURDER

CLEVELAND, April 3.—Working on the theory that Alice Leonard, 15-year-old school girl, met death while resisting an attack, police and county authorities today were seeking a motorist who is said to have approached several schoolmates of the girl whose body was found late yesterday in a field near Mayfield Heights school, after she had been missing for more than two months.

MOTORIST HELD IN CHILD'S DEATH

NEW LEXINGTON, O., April 3.—Manslaughter charges against Granville Jarrett, 35, South Zanesville, were pending here today, following the death of three-year-old Audrey Pidecock, who was drowned near Roseville, Sunday, when Jarrett's auto went over an embankment into a deep creek.
Jarrett, it is alleged, was intoxicated at the time of the tragedy. Jarrett pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Justice Newberry, late yesterday, and was held under $10,000 bond.

Homage Paid Willis

Steele, pastor of the Asbury M. E. church where Senator and Mrs. Willis were members.

Prayer was led by Dr. Rollin Hough Walker, head of the Bible department of Ohio Wesleyan university. Dr. Walker presided at the funeral services for Senator Willis' father and mother.

The funeral sermon was preached by Dr. Albert Edwin Smith, president of Ohio Northern university, where Senator Willis had been both a student and teacher.

Dr. Smith said:
"Frank Bartlett Willis was fond of life. He reveled in human relationships. He loved his fellow-men, and drew them to him by bonds of affection. He was so true and loyal to his friendships that he would go any length to defend them. He was able to inspire others. His friendship was sacrificial. He literally laid down his life for his friends, and for those principles and ideals which he considered right and just and indispensable to the welfare of our common country."

Valiant Leader.
"He was a valiant leader in the cause of righteousness. He had faith in the spiritual forces of life. He believed that truth and right had the universe on their side."

"Perhaps the outstanding trait of our departed friend's character was his honesty, his sincerity, his integrity. I have noted from the telegrams that have come from all parts of the country this emphatic and significant note, expressed in various ways, but never, theless central in all the tributes—that no one ever questioned the sincerity, the high-mindedness, and the uprightness of this man's private and public life."

Glee Club Sings.
The Republican Glee club which was singing Friday night at the political rally when the senator was stricken, sang "Thy Will Be Done."

Senator Willis' secretary Charles A. Jones, then spoke for those who worked with Senator Willis during his political activities.
Addresses were then to be made by Senator Simon D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, and former Congressman Ralph D. Cole of Findlay. Benediction by Dr. Walker was to follow preparatory to the burial services at Oak Grove cemetery where the senator's parents are buried.

Military Escort for Body.
Federal Judge Hough was to be in charge of the military escort accompanying the body from the church to the cemetery. A battalion of Ohio National Guardsmen under Col. Robert Hough, Judge Hough was adjutant general of the Ohio National Guard when Senator Willis was governor of the state.

In the battalion were to march Company K, Delaware; Company I, Columbus; Company B, Marysville, and a gun company of Marion.

Governor and Mrs. A. V. Donahy, Adjutant General and Mrs. Frank Henderson, and ten aides were in the governor's party.

The original plan to have the 112th aero squadron, O. N. G., of Cleveland, drop flowers from the air, was abandoned, as no emergency landing field could be found near the cemetery.

By special arrangement the funeral services were to be broadcast over WAU, a Columbus radio station.

insurance on their 40,000 employees, Swift's and the men share the cost.

Insuring workers was called rank Socialism when Bismarck, ultra-conservative, amazed Europe by his old age pension laws. Now insuring workers becomes a part of intelligent, modern business.

Great industrialists realize that the men are also an important part of the plant.

GEORGE REMUS was a bootlegger, somewhat temperamental. In fact, his temper was violent.

He killed his wife, shot her dead in spite of her pitiful appeals for mercy. But, intelligent and forceful, he convinced justice that he was insane. He went to the insane asylum for a little while—and, having now convinced justice that he has recovered his sanity, he is ordered released.

The next chapter will be interesting.

IF there are 4,000,000 idle in America, as the Democrats say, seeking to oust Republicans, or only 1,870,000, as the Republicans say, is not this the time to inaugurate the five work-day week?

EFFICIENCY in machinery has advanced more rapidly than demand for workers.

The work that one hundred men did in the automobile industry ten years ago is done by thirty men now.

The five-day week, universally applied, would about solve the unemployment problem.

Why not try it? To have all workers busy five days resting two days, with nobody idle, would be a good deal better than all the employed working six days and millions idle six days.

CANADA'S government encourages use of electric power, particularly on farms and in small communities. Water power is developed fully to generate the current, and all are assisted in its installation.

Farmers are taught to grind feed with it, pump water and do their other work.

And, by the way, United States farmers are urgently invited by the Canadian government to settle in Canada.

OUR attention here is concentrated on a different problem. We want to make sure that the right people get possession of our power sources, the right people being those that control power and peddle it to the people. As to farmers and others that buy and use power, our government has not found time to think about them.

PROPHECY is usually dangerous, particularly dangerous for farmers when government prophecies go wrong. The government forecast on potatoes last Fall predicted a crop greater than the real one, many farmers sold in a hurry at low prices, some were not marketed, many fed to stock.

Then the shortage was seen, prices went up, a few wise people made the money, NOT the farmers.

Urges Tax Cut

meeting the demands of special interests inevitably leads to serious maladjustments of the burdens," Mellon declared. "The federal government cannot afford to see its tax system resting on too narrow a base."

Opposition likewise was expressed to the principle of graduated corporation taxes, Mellon remarking that there is no sound justification for such procedure. He added that the adoption of a graduated corporation tax will lead back to the excess profits tax which "impossible of administration and generally discredited was repealed in 1921."

POLICE GUARD POLITICIANS IN BOMB WAR

Thompson-Crowe Men are Threatened in Chicago.

BLASTS FEARED

Notorious Figure in Gangland Under Arrest.

CHICAGO, April 3.—Heavily armed police guards were posted today at the homes of John W. Gibson, Cook county commissioner, and Charles L. Swanson, a leader of the Thompson-Crowe Republican faction. Both men received warnings that they were marked for assassination. Gibson is a candidate for 47th ward committee under the Thompson-Crowe banner.

Confession Reported.
CHICAGO, April 3.—Solution of many recent bomb attacks, including those against the homes of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson, Deneen candidate for state's attorney, were predicted today as a result of the arrest of Lorenzo Juliano, a notorious figure in gangland.

Juliano, who was arrested last night by government operatives, is also believed to hold the key to a number of recent sensational gangster murders.

One of his associates arrested with Juliano has confessed, according to government men, that he participated in six murders and many bombings, all of which were engineered by Juliano. This man's name is being withheld until the gang leader can be confronted by all his subordinates in the confession.

Roche Plans Round-Up.
The gangster roundup was engineered by Pat Roche, ace of the government's special intelligence unit, and United States District Attorney Geo. E. Q. Johnson.

Prominent among the murders which Juliano is alleged to have directed is the assassination two weeks ago of "Diamond Joe" Espisito, overlord of Chicago's "Little Italy" and a leader in the Deneen republican faction. Juliano is said to have posted as an intimate friend of Espisito, but secretly nursed a grudge against him, because he failed to provide protection for Juliano's activities.

Agent Roche and Attorney Johnson questioned Juliano for many hours during the night, but the latter steadfastly maintained his innocence of any connection with the recent bombings and murders. After the interview, Roche departed for Blue Island, the alleged scene of Juliano's operations, to search for additional witnesses.

Lowden Favored

based upon the fact that 34 of the 51 Willis candidates for delegate had designated Lowden as their second choice in the official declarations which they filed with state election officials at the beginning of the Ohio presidential preference campaign which terminates at the state-wide primaries on April 24.

Public announcement by Governor Vic Donahy of his selection of Director of Commerce Cyrus Locher, Cleveland, Democrat, as United States senator to succeed Willis is expected to be made Thursday morning.

McSweeney Endorsed.
NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., April 3.—Congressman John McSweeney, of Wooster, today was recommended to Gov. Donahy as the gubernatorial appointee to succeed the late Senator Frank B. Willis. His endorsement was passed here last night by the Tuscarawas County Jefferson club.

Wharton Also Urged.
KENTON, O., April 3.—Hardin county Democrats today were on record as favoring C. E. Wharton, president of the Ohio Farm federation, as the successor to be named by Gov. Donahy, for the late Senator Frank B. Willis. Resolutions asking for his appointment were passed here last night by several farm organizations.

RULES HOMICIDE IN DEATH QUIZ

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., April 3.—"Homicide by choking" was the verdict of Coroner J. F. Lewis after he had completed his investigation into the death of Miss Viola May, 21, who is said to have been murdered by her brother-in-law, William D. Herron, 41. The coroner announced his verdict this morning.

Herron is alleged to have confessed that he murdered Miss May and then threw her body into the Tuscarawas river after she had resisted his advances.

TYPIST FAILS IN STRAITS SWIM

Georgia O'Ramey, 42, Succumbs in New Haven, Conn.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 3.—An autopsy was performed today upon the body of Miss Georgia O'Ramey, noted musical comedy actress who died suddenly here last night just before the production, "Nice Girl," of which she was the star, was scheduled to open. Heart failure is believed to have been the cause of death.

Miss O'Ramey, who in private life was Mrs. Robert B. Griffin, was 42. She complained of feeling ill when the company arrived here and died shortly after a physician had been summoned. She had been working hard in rehearsals.

Miss O'Ramey was born in Mansfield, Ohio, and attended Oberlin college. She appeared in vaudeville in 1905, made her stage debut in San Francisco a year later and came east in 1907.

Fall Explains Fib

Lenroot, then chairman of the public lands committee, now a practicing attorney here, said:

"I knew nothing about the Doherty transaction at the time we talked to Fall. As a matter of fact, I didn't know that he didn't get the money from McLean until it was brought out in the investigation."

Birch Helms on Stand.
WASHINGTON, April 3.—The late President Harding was advised thirteen days after former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall leased Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair that other oil companies had been barred from bidding for the huge naval oil reserve in Wyoming.

This was revealed today at the senate oil inquiry by Birch Helms, of Fort Worth, Texas, vice president of the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company. Helms produced a copy of a telegram sent Harding April 26, 1922, asking a conference and telling how his company had been given no chance to bid for Teapot Dome although previously promised an opportunity.

on Importance of Education.

NOON LUNCHEON

Edgar Allen, Elyria, Will Meet Club Leaders Thursday.

The growing tendency in the United States for high school and college education and the question of providing these graduates with employment were discussed by Professor Edward Orton, Jr., Columbus, founder of the American Ceramic society before 69 members of the Rotary Club and their guests in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. today.

C. H. Walker, superintendent of the Homer Laughlin China company, was chairman of the meeting. A number of pottery executives were guests.

President Martin Abbott announced a meeting of directors, members of the crippled children's committee and club officers, will be held at the Travelers' Hotel, Thursday noon, when Edgar "Daddy" Allen, Elyria, founder of the crippled children's movement will visit here. Herbert Breneman will be chairman of next Tuesday's luncheon meeting when Dr. Warren O. Hawkins will be the speaker.

Dr. Orton, who was head of the engineering department at Ohio State University for many years, served as a lieutenant-colonel during the World war and was discharged with the rank of a general. He is now an adviser to Dr. A. V. Blehinger, head of the research department of the Homer Laughlin China company.

"The question of providing positions for the 200,000 or more college graduates and a million or more graduates who are turned out of our high schools each year is that which society is being called upon to solve," he said.

"The American educational system is a gigantic experiment. Our constitution makers realize that the masses needed a higher type of education as education was to be one of the fundamentals upon which this government was to stand. They established schools. At first school attendance was not compulsory. The three R's were taught. Today school attendance is required of every boy and girl. A high school graduate today receives the same course as the college graduate received 100 years ago."

"No one need be ignorant of the affairs of our country if he can read. He can vote intelligently if he can read. This educational system is being provided at a tremendous expense. There are in Ohio eight colleges and normal schools being maintained and supported at the expense of the public."

EIGHT MEN DIE IN MINE BLAST

BLUEFIELDS, W. Va., April 3.—Investigation into the cause of the mine explosion in the No. 2 operation of the Keystone Coal and Coke company which snuffed out the lives of seven miners and a company mine inspector, was begun today by R. M. Lambie, chief of the state department of mines.

The dead, all removed late last night from the vicinity of the number 31 entry, about four miles from the main entry, are: Frederick Platzer, 52, chief mine inspector for the Houston Coal properties, Raymond Poole, 35, J. W. Cochran, E. M. Hall, A. N. Studsdant, John A. Preston, Walter Wade and Arch Frazier, all negroes. Platzer had entered the mine after the explosion. His body was found beside a large lump of coal and he had suffered a compound fracture of the leg. Mining men believe he was pinned by the falling coal and in striving to extricate himself was a victim of the dread afterdamp.

Lambie said most of the 25 miners at work at the time of the blast had made their way to safety through an air entry on Pinnacle creek, five and one half miles from the main entry, which was only cut through the mountain late last fall. Because of the long distance the men had to walk over the rugged mountain back to the main office, much difficulty was experienced in accounting for them.

Bettridge Passers Capture Y. M. C. A. Senior League Laurels

Defeat Nickel Plates In Championship Clash

Both Teams Play Finished Brand of Ball in Final Tilt of Season; Hancock's Shot Sews up Contest.

Carl Bettridge's B. & O. basketballers are Y. M. C. A. Senior league champions as a result of their 29 to 28 victory over the Nickel Plates, first half winners, in a gruelling battle staged last night on the "Y" court.

Buying Teams For Infield is New Ball Idea

Clubs Now Develop Their Stars in Pairs.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Maybe the boys who buy them and try them have hit upon a new wrinkle in the development of young major league ball players on and around second base, the key position of the defense behind the pitcher. Anyhow, it seems significant that when the Yankees decided to strengthen Gibraltair they paid $150,000 for a combination, instead of buying one here and another there, and when the Browns decided to build anew they brought in Otis Brannon and Ralph Kress, second baseman and shortstop respectively from Tulsa.

Jimmy Reese and Lyn Lary won't get their chance to vindicate Yankee tactics until 1929, this being one of the terms of sale demanded by Oakland. But Brannon and Kress are right in there already and the early returns indicate that the St. Louis management might have done worse.

Natural Players.
Dan Howley freely admits that the pair has plenty to learn but he is grateful for one thing: He does not have to accustom the young men to each other. They already have put in a full campaign together at Tulsa and this fact has had its affect in getting them by to date. However, the boys themselves have had nothing to do with it, too. Lacking experience though they may, they seem to be natural ball players and, in the exhibition games so far, they have done many things right and nothing very wrong.

In addition, both hit like fools through the month of March, supplying a lot of punch that served to make the Browns' early exhibition record what it was. What they will do under fire on the big time may be something else but there is no doubt that the stuff is there and Howley is taking the best method of getting it out of them. Confidence in each other possibly has resulted in Otis Brannon and Ralph Kress each having confidence in himself.

Perhaps Oakland started something when it insisted on Reese and Lary going to the same major league club, because it liked the boys and knew that they were necessary to each other. The writer recalls that Dave Bancroft was a member of such a combination in Portland when he was sold to the Phillies in 1915. The Phillies might easily have taken the other man, whose name escapes me, for they were so pressed for a second baseman that they were forced to re-model Bert Niehoff, who previously had played only at third base.

Worked Out Well.
Everything worked out for the best, of course, as Bancroft became an overnight star, Niehoff did very well at

The contest was a real championship clash from start to finish. In more ways than one with both teams playing a spectacular, efficient brand of ball. The B. & O. passers, over-coming a 10-point lead held by the opposition, came through in the last few minutes to win, Hancock's bucket deciding the issue.

The Bettridge combine led at the end of the first quarter, 9 to 6. In the second period the Plates got busy. They overtook their rivals and were in the lead, 17 to 15, when time was up at the half.

During the first five minutes of the third period, it looked like a Nickel Plate walkaway, the Plates piling up a 10-point margin that appeared momentous at this stage of the engagement.

A rally by the B. & O. however, found the Nickel Plate lead dwindling toward at the close of the period and at the intermission the 10 points had been reduced to three.

The battle continued close in the wind-up canto. Bettridge's shot gave the B. & O. two more counters. Earl Reese uncorked one of the prettiest heaves of the game to put the B. & O. ahead, 27 to 26. Laughlin counted on a foul for the Nickel Plates and knotted the tally. A few seconds later Hancock of the B. & O. looped one from the corner and the shot spelled victory.

The playing of Reese, Swaney and Bettridge was outstanding for the B. & O. while Laughlin, Beckett and McConville were the chief performers for the Plates.

RISKO'S PILOT OFF TO NEW YORK

CLEVELAND, April 3.—Danny Dunn, manager of Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight contender for Gene Tunney's title, was to leave Cleveland today for New York, presumably for a conference with Promoter Humbert Pugazy.

"Pugazy wants Risko for a Brooklyn fight," Dunn replied in answer to questions regarding his second trip east within two weeks. "I might talk to him while I'm in New York."

"Tex Rickard has no strings on Risko," Dunn volunteered. "We're free to sign wherever we want. This trip has nothing to do with a desire to talk to Rickard."

Dunn said he had several offers for Risko's services, including one from "Jim" Mullen, of Chicago, for a bout in July.

second base and the Phillies won their only pennant forthwith. But there remains always the possibility that the other Portland man might have made the raffle if he had been allowed to come up with Bancroft.

New Material To Strengthen Reading Spuad

Hinchman Needs Only a Pitcher or Two Now.

LAKELAND, Fla., April 3.—Even Reading has a better ball club this year in the rejuvenated International league.

Harry Hinchman, veteran, is getting together a ball club he likes and needs only a few more pitchers and an outfielder promised by the Cubs, to make his club one to cause the others a lot of worry.

With the veteran Everett Scott at short the infield looks very good defensively, a great weakness with Reading for several seasons. On second is Charles (Tweet) Walsh, from Pittsfield, the best second base man in the Eastern league last year. He hit for .328 against good pitching.

On third is the youngest of the Sewell brothers, Tommy, the property of the Cubs, who came to Reading last summer just out of the University of Alabama. Chick Hawks is covering first base. Hinchman has six pitchers in camp and three more are in training with the Cubs. Five are showing nicely. They are all right handers.

His catchers are Harry Lake, veteran of the league, and Fred Sengstock. Lake is a very smart handler of pitchers. Sengstock is a fairly good man with lots of experience.

He needs a hard hitting outfielder to go with what he has now. Kern is playing one berth and will likely stick. George Quellich is sure of a job, too, and in the other garden are the two Moores, Johnny playing against left hand pitchers and Al against the right handers.

Reading has been training here under splendid weather conditions and the club is already in shape physically. The Cleveland Indians trained here several years.

was exported to Europe. He won the 1912 Kentucky Futurity with the late W. G. Durfee of Los Angeles, Cal. In the sulky and established a world record for a sixth heat that stood for many years.

Probes Boxing Death

William J. Kennedy, president of the Connecticut A. A. U., is making an intensive investigation of amateur boxing as a result of the death of Horace Aliff, of Meriden, a few hours after his three round bout with Tommy Carroll, who is being held by the coroner.

TRIBE READY TO HIT TRAIL NORTH

NEW ORLEANS, April 3.—Following a brief workout at Helmsmann park here today, the Cleveland Indians were to hit the northward trail. The club is scheduled to stop at Montgomery, Ala.; Louisville, Ky. and Cincinnati enroute to the American league opening.

Six recruits — Glenn Bolton, Ernest Speer, Dan Jesse, Harold Heidelberg, John White and Milton Rangnow — have been turned loose by the Cleveland management. Two or three additional players were expected to be released today.

GIANTS SWAMP SENATORS, 12-1

ATLANTA, Ga., April 3.—The series between the New York Giants and the Washington Senators will be resumed here today with the Giants leading by two victories to one. The Giant juggernaut was hitting on all nine cylinders at Birmingham yesterday when the Nats were swamped under a 12 to 1 score, the New Yorkers getting 17 hits off Lisenbee and Van Alstyne. Larry Benton pitched nine innings, the first Giant twirler to go the full route, and in addition helped himself to a home run and a single.

Rickard's Rivals Claim Champion For Fight In September

Supposed to Have Bout Sewed Up for Chicago

Tunney Expected to Wire Acceptance of Heeney Engagement to New York Boxing Commission Today.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, April 3.—The old story about Gene Tunney finding two opponents where exactly none were supposed to exist bobbed up again today in a new guise to further complicate a situation that in no wise had been clarified by the recent announcement that Tom Heeney, the well known boloney, would be the champions opponent in July. The second fight, they now say, will duly take place in September under auspices other than Rickard's and that there will be a concerted rush by the heavyweights left holding the reticule to climb aboard the band wagon sponsored by Jack Fugazy and Jim Mullen.

They are supposed to have the second Tunney date sewed up for Chicago, which is said to be the reason Fugazy made no move here to stop Rickard from taking over the Polo grounds. So much for that development. Others figured to follow today in this order:

Gauthier Will Pilot Party to Olympic Games

Coaches and Athletes to Make European Trip.

DELAWARE, O., April 3.—An Ohio party to visit the Olympic games at Amsterdam this summer and to make a brief European tour is being organized by Coach George Gauthier, director of athletics at Ohio Wesleyan university here.

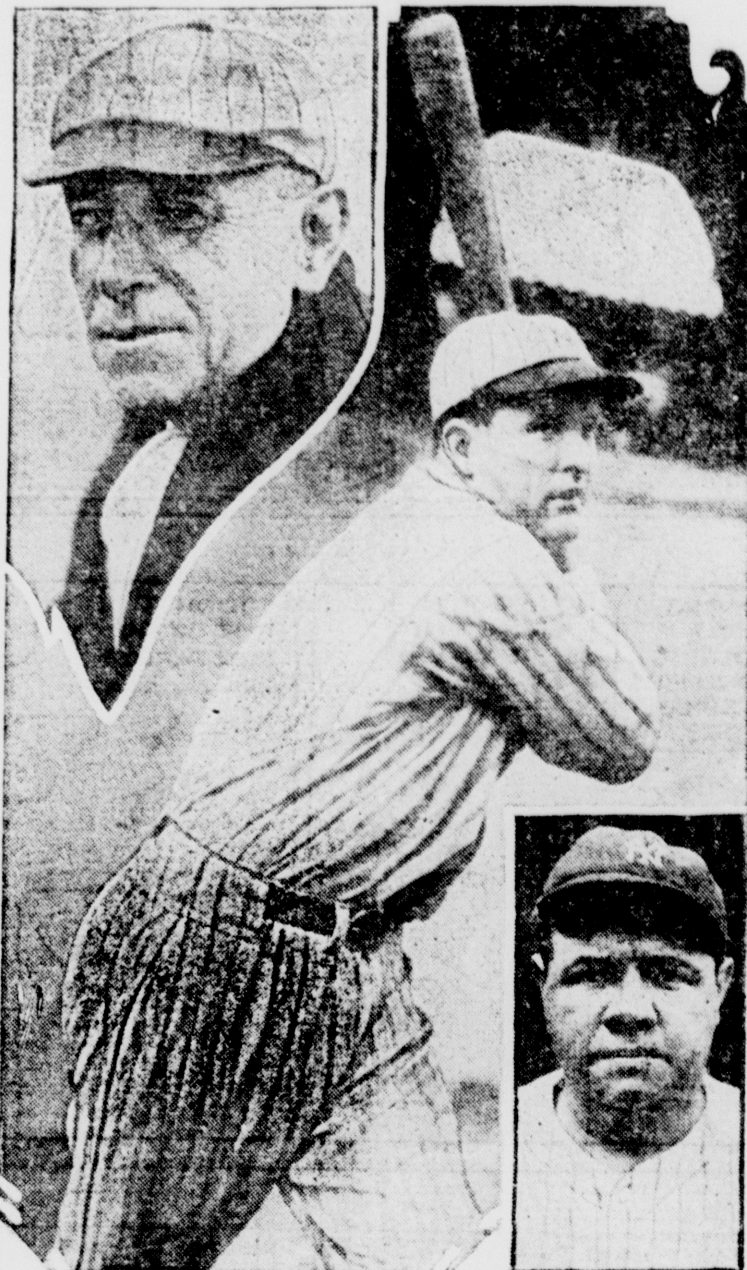

College and high school coaches, athletes, and many others who are interested in seeing the international sports classic will compose the party which according to present plans will leave New York on July 25 on the S. S. Lapland.

Coach Gauthier will conduct the tour and probably will be one of the lecturers for a series of lectures on football which will be given daily on shipboard during the out-bound trip.

The party will spend four days at the Olympics during the field and track events early in August. Visits to Paris and to the World war battlefields will be other features of the itinerary. The Gauthier party will sail for home August 11 and will arrive in Montreal four days later.

Gauthier, whose Ohio Wesleyan track teams have won four Ohio conference track championships during the past five years is widely known as one of the most successful track and field coaches in the country today, and because of this extreme interest in this branch of sports is undertaking the organization of this special Ohio party for the Olympic games.

OLD MASTER SWAT RECORD STANDS

The newer heroes may occupy the limelight at present, but their batting averages have never surpassed that of Hugh Duffy (upper left), now head baseball coach of Boston College, Mass. Playing with the Boston National League club in 1894, Duffy made his season record of .438, which has never been reached by any successor, even Babe Ruth (lower right), the Home Run King, or Rogers Hornsby (center), six-time National League leader.

Elis' Unbeaten Team Captures U. S. Tank Title

Defeats Michigan, Big 10 Champs, at New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 3.—Yale's undefeated swimming team was hailed as the college champion of the United States today as a result of its 39 to 23 victory over Michigan, Big Ten champions, in Carnegie pool last night.

Michigan lost the meet by an inch, Yale's margin of victory in the relay race, the deciding event. Captain House, anchor man, won this event for the Elis.

Michigan's only first place was taken by Garnet Ault, who cut seven seconds from the intercollegiate record for the 440-yard swim by winning the event in 5:01 3/5. The Wolverines kept in the running by taking second place in all the other events.

Ruth Chestnut Idle.
LEXINGTON, Ky., April 3.—Ruth M. Chenault, the filly that made a clean sweep of the 1926 two-year-old trotting futurities, will not be raced in her four-year-old form this year. The Coldstream Farm has decided to keep her over until next season.

East Liverpool Girl Captain of Ohio State Nine

COLUMBUS, April 3.—Miss Maxine Wilson, an East Liverpool student at Ohio State University, has been named manager of the St. Hilda girls' dormitory baseball team which will enter competition with other coed nines for championship of the university this spring.

Miss Wilson was named recently to her position by the president of the dormitory. She will have charge of the team and will call for practices within a few days to condition the team for the first game of the co-ed league to be held in three weeks. All games will be held in a special diamond for the girl students and the winning team of the competition will be awarded a silver cup.

The East Liverpool student is studying in the College of Liberal Arts. She holds the rank of sophomore.

YANKS LICKED BY ATLANTANS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3.—The New York Yankees arrived here today for a game with the local club in a chastened frame of mind, their two-game winning streak having been shattered by the Atlanta Crackers. Buster Gehrig hit three triples and the other Yanks also had their eye on the ball, but the Crackers pounded Coveloski and Johnson for 19 hits and won, 10 to 9.

Loop Foes Meet in Play-Off

M. P. and Christian Quints to Clash Thursday.

Preliminary to the championship final for the Y. M. C. A. Sunday school basketball league title, two of the league teams who have battled to even terms for the second half title will clash Thursday night at 8 o'clock on the "Y" court.

The Methodist Protestants and the Christians are the present league nominees for second half laurels, but inasmuch as only one of them can enjoy the privilege of meeting the Lutherans, first half winners, the pair will have to fight it out.

Two-year-old Looks Good.

GOSHEN, N. Y., April 3.—One of the two year old trotting futurity candidates that is attracting much attention here is Brother Guy in the stable of Walter R. Cox. This colt is owned by Sanford Small, the Atlantic, Mass., breeder, and is a son of Guy Axworthy and My Sister Lou. He cost $7,300 as a yearling.

SPORT NEWS AND VIEWS

By the Sports Editor.

SIX class B schools of the Tri-State Conference, including Duquesne, Geneva, Westminster, Bethany, Thiel and Waynesburg, yesterday tightened their eligibility code with the unanimous adoption of a migratory rule that automatically bars any student from another school from competing on a conference team.

The rule also requires a one-year residence of any migratory student who has competed as a freshman for any other institution.

The ruling, however, is not retroactive and, consequently, athletes in school now who otherwise might be affected by the ruling, will not be barred.

Other legislation approved by the conference tends to restrict conference players from performing in independent circles after the close of the college year. A rule making it obligatory to secure the written consent of the athletic director of the school before such participation, was passed.

This ruling would hit teams like the Bethany Bisons who played in the recent Tri-State amateur tournament here. Under the new legislation, it would be necessary for such teams to obtain the college's consent before they could enter.

IN THE last four fights at the Eagles' arena, young Freddy Edwards, the Chester welterweight, has occupied one corner of the ring in the second four round bout on each card presented by Matchmaker Tom McDonough.

And just as regular as his appearances, have been his victories. Edwards, in his four fights, has hung up four conquests, three by the knockout route, and the other by decision.

But next Monday night Edwards will not be out there to entertain the fans who like to see him sock.

The "vacant chair" will be filled by Frank Amedio, Chester lad, who will go on in four rounds against Ray Mitchell, of East Liverpool.

Matchmaker McDonough was counting on Edwards for the Monday fight and was going to put him on in a feature event against Mitchell, the only boy the West Virginian thus far has failed to stretch on the canvas.

But Edwards, it was learned last night, has signed for a scrap in Lisbon and does not feel like straining his physical resources to take on two fights within a few days of each other.

If Mitchell comes through against Amedio in the Monday bout here, he will be matched with Edwards then for the following card which, in all probability, will be the concluding fistic event of the season here.

The Victory is first at the get-away and first on the straight-away—faster on the hills, faster in traffic—smoother on rough roads.

And accelerates as no other car at the price has EVER done: 5 to 25 miles in 7 1/4 seconds! 10 to 45 miles in 13 1/2 seconds!

The public discovered all this even as the stop watch proved it.

More power per pound of car weight made it possible. Rugged Dodge construction made it practical. And the Victory's unusual design made it SAFE.

For the Victory gravity center is lower and there is no body overhang... The chassis frame is the full width of the body—and the body sills are eliminated.

Exceptional charm of line and more headroom and seat width are further vital results of this unique construction.

Stolen Idols

A Romance of the Sea
By Frank L. Packard.

"Well, perhaps, at the present moment you are right," he said after an instant's pause. "Let us say, then, that I am after it now. Indeed, I ask you for it. Give it to me. You will at least be in less danger without it."

"No!" she answered. "You shall not have it! I believe little or nothing of your story, but I am quite sure that if I call for help some of those natives out there will come quickly enough. And that is what I shall do if you attempt to take it by force. You shall not have it!"

"Do you know what it is—what it represents—the secret, I mean?" he asked quietly.

"No!" she answered. "Nor do I care!"

"Then why," he persisted, are you so determined to keep it?"

"Because," she told him—and her hands clenched suddenly in her lap, "because I think it will help to hang you!"

"My God!" he whispered helplessly—and sat for a moment silent. Then he leaned toward her. "If your love is as staunch as your hate," he said in a low voice, "it must be the most wonderful love in all the world."

With a startled little cry, she drew farther away from him. She made no other answer.

There was silence for a long minute between them, then Bob Kingsley spoke again.

"Look here," he said earnestly, "we are getting nowhere. I want to ask you a question. I think I have a right to ask it, and I think that in all fairness I have a right to an answer. If, as you believe, I killed your brother for that idol, whatever its nature may or may not be, how do you account for what I did afterwards? Why did I not take the idol from you? Why did I not go in the boat instead of you? And, above all, why did I let you go at all then with the idol still in your possession?"

She turned and studied his face for an instant; then she shook her head, and her hand went to her eyes in a tired way.

"Why should I be put on the defensive?" Her voice was suddenly ragged—as though speech had become an effort and an exertion. "There are dozens of reasons that would account for what you did! If there is any truth at all in your own story, you perhaps thought it was safer for you to let me keep the idol temporarily. Perhaps you suddenly discovered that the others who were after it, if there are others, and whether they are Chinamen or not, were in Mr. Carter's boat, and would take it from you the moment you got ashore; whereas, not knowing I had it, it was safe from them while with me. Perhaps, on the other hand, you knew they were still on the ship, but also knew there was another boat, in which case it would still be safer in my possession should they attack you."

"And so I sent ashore the one person who would bear witness against me for murder, when, by leaving you there, I had nothing to fear on that account!" he exclaimed bluntly.

"No," she said. "There was another boat."

"Well, grant that!" His voice had hardened noticeably in spite of himself. "Grant that I knew there was another boat. What then? If we both got ashore? As we have! Did I not still have to face your accusation?"

She passed her hand wearily again across her eyes.

"The idol seemingly mattered most of all," she said, her words coming now in even a more labored way than before. "You would take chances on the rest—that is your reputation, isn't it? Desperate chances, if need be. The circumstances, too, were in your favor—if you reached shore at all, you would still be hundreds of miles from either police or authority. Besides, I imagine you counted too strongly on the fact that my attitude toward you would be materially affected, and that I would be inclined to give credence to any story you might concoct, because—well, because, believing that you had saved my life by apparently offering your own in exchange, it would be so very human a thing that I should then want to believe you innocent. And so I should—if I had not seen what I did, and if I were not so sure, and if I did not know who you were, and know your reputation."

"Your armor is not easily pierced," he said, a little bitterly. "I suppose, then, that the reason I have forced you to stay here alone with me behind this boat is not for your own safety's sake, but because I had hoped to inveigle you, still hope to inveigle you perhaps, into giving me the idol, since I dare not use force on account of the fact that your outeries would bring those natives over there to your assistance?"

"I suppose so," she answered apathetically. "Or to prevent me from telling my story—but that is now too late. I was close beside Mr. Carter in the boat. I told him what had happened. The serang was next to Mr. Carter, and he heard me. Whoever comes back with the serang will already know all about it."

"But before then," said Bob Kingsley evenly, "there is more to the story, a great deal more, and I am—"

He stopped abruptly. She had put out one hand on the sand as though to prevent herself from falling.

"I am very tired," she said weakly. "I—I can't stand any more."

She was a crumpled little heap on the sand.

With a low cry of dismay, he was on his feet. It was not far to the water's edge, but he had nothing in which to carry any water—even a hat. His hat was gone. He did not remember when or where he had lost it, but it was gone. The boat, then! There should be water in the bottom of the boat from the shipped seas. He leaned in over the gunwale. Yes, the whole bottom was still awash with it. He gathered some up in his supped hands, and turned to splash it in her face—but allowed it to spill upon the sand instead, as she raised her hand in feeble protest. She had not fainted, then, as he had thought; but he realized now what he told himself with bitter self-reproach, he should have realized long before. She had reached the breaking point. The murder of her brother, the horror and strain of the night, of what she had been through, had taken her beyond her strength both mentally and physically, and he could see now as he bent down over her that she was in a state of almost coma-like exhaustion. If only he had a stimulant of some kind—brandy! But there was none. There was nothing he could do. He took off his jacket and, removing his revolver from the pocket, folded the jacket and placed it under her head. She made no protest this time—seemed scarcely aware of what he had done.

He sat down on the sand again, his revolver on his knee now, and began a silent vigil. The little crowd out there along the beach remained clustered together, making little or no movement so far as he could see in the darkness. Many of them had perhaps thrown themselves down to sleep. Certainly no one attempted to come in his direction. But, while he kept watch along the beach, his eyes were more often, and more anxiously, on the little figure that lay outstretched on the sand a yard away from him. Occasionally she stirred unrestfully, once she turned and buried her face in her arms, but for the most part she lay very still. At last she seemed to fall into a heavy unnatural slumber, her breathing labored.

Was it hours or minutes that passed? Both were alike interminable. He could not see his watch. His matches had been spoiled when he had sat in the water in the bottom of the boat. Was Aoru farther away than he had supposed? How long would it be now before the serang returned. Perhaps the man hadn't been able to find the place at all—showed some head, anyhow. In not letting all the women and children tramp after him for hours and probably get lost in the darkness! Not likely to be particularly pleasant for one Bob Kingsley, though, when the serang did return! He, Bob Kingsley, would be promptly denounced as a murderer. He shrugged his shoulders grimly. That would have to take care of itself—a lot depended, as he had told himself before, on whom, if any one, the serang brought back with him. What was vital now was that the sooner the man returned, the sooner some sort of assistance might be obtained for Verna.

CHRYSLER WEEK IS OBSERVED

Forty Car Display at Eppley Sales Show-rooms.

Attention of automobile enthusiasts will be focused this week on the show rooms of the Eppley Motor Sales Co., where Chrysler Display week will be celebrated in conjunction with its observance by Chrysler distributors throughout the country.

The week has been designated by the Chrysler corporation as a means of manifesting through the medium of its dealer organization its appreciation of the public recognition which has given this company an unprecedented record of progress and has advanced it within four years to the rank of third largest motor car manufacturer in the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce ratings according to sales volume.

In line with this desire of the Chrysler corporation the local representatives are extending personally and through the press a general invitation to the public of this vicinity to visit their show rooms and inspect typical examples of the 40 and more varieties of body types in the Chrysler line. Chrysler production is said to include the widest range of buying choice offered by any single automobile producer. It covers every price field from as low as $670 in the "52" model to the highest type of luxury class automobile, as exemplified in the Imperial "80" group.
